

Team MS travels across the pond to pay a visit to the ACE Café and the Coventry Museum to spread the word about MS

Team MS paid a visit to the ACE Café and the Coventry Museum to get in touch with the rocker and sporting past and increase awareness about MS .

The journey to the ACE from London is at best an adventure if you travel by the TUBE, (London's Transit system) As one information station attendant said " If you are in a hurry, stay home." Interesting philosophy for a man who works in the system. But the journey was made and it was worth it.

There are lots of people in London! Lots and Lots.

There is plenty of room to stretch out with the mates and bench race a little at the ACE. The beer is pretty good as well.

Team MS leaves its mark at the ACE Café and the ACE Café joins in on the Team MS sticker awareness campaign.

If you have not visited the ACE Café, you should, as the place has a part in our cycling past that few places can match. You have everything from café racers to modern sport bikes. Bikes, Cars and Scooters are all welcome and live entertainment is on hand most days of the week. Check out the web site at www.ace-cafe-london.com

Team MS then traveled to Coventry to visit the Motor Sports Museum. The city and the workers from the area have had an impact that has changed the way we travel and think about mobility.

The Coventry Transport Museum is hard to miss in this town and is worth the journey.

The museum not only showcases old and new motorcycles but automobiles and bicycles. The site hosts the Rover bicycle which became the model that we still today and lead the way for the first motorcycles.

Take a close look at this bicycle - this is what shaped two industries.

The impact this area has had goes way beyond what can be found in any other area of the world that I know of.

The journey is definitely worth the trip and I would highly recommend for people to visit both of these spots if in the area. Overall the trip was a great learning experience for both me and the folks of England about MS and its effects.
